My Brother Alephs,

Atlanta Council is growing strong, but we can grow to even higher heights. By making Grassroots changes for our grassroots movement, we can bring AC AZA to new heights. Theodore Herzl once said, "If you will it, it is no dream." And if elected as your Atlanta Council Moreh, I promise you I will work my hardest to make that dream come true.

Faternally submitted with an undying love for Hazakah AZA #2458, Atlanta Council and the Grand Order of the Aleph Zadik Aleph, I humbly remain Aleph Zachary Adam Getty

Making Changes Today, For A Better Future Tomorrow

My Primary Goals as Moreh:

Results of New Programs and Changes:

BBYO Connect:

I want to emphasize our BBYO Connect efforts on the 6th graders. Why 6th graders? If we can start the recruitment process before their Bar mitzvahs, these teens will be more likely to join BBYO and not become part of the 80% of Jewish teens who stop their Jewish education after their Bar Mitzvah or B'nei Mitzvahs.

BBYO Connect:

By having a more concentrated effort on recruiting 6th graders into BBYO Connect, we will see an exponential increase in our BBYO Connect participation. This will lead to more prospective members who are interested in and want to be a part of growing movement.

Morim Communication:

As Moreh I want to establish a new communications network between the Morim counterparts. By using Google Docs to organize calls on a chapter level, we can ensure that every eighth grader receives calls from their respective chapters about joining BBYO.

Morim Communication:

The increased communication between chapter members, chapter Morim, and the council Moreh will allow for a more efficient recruitment process. By shifting our focus to connecting with every prospective member that we call, there will be an increase in members for every chapter in our council.

Retention:

As Moreh I want to be able to increase council and chapter participation.

- Promote the big brother little brother system within each chapter.
- Upperclassmen events to stop senior burnouts (2 events per semester).
- Starting of a council retention committee with members from each chapter.

Retention:

By providing specialized programs for seniors and juniors, we can prevent senior burnouts, and keep more members active. Committees will be able to keep track of the alephs that attend each chapter program and follow up with those who could not attend. By talking with every member that misses a program, we can turn paper members into active members for every chapter in the council.

Education:

Promote council wide education by working with the s'gan to help plan a few education oriented programs about the five folds, Cardinal Principles and Business meeting processes.

- Will implement these programs by using time during: Sundays at the J, Convention programs, and chapter programs to further the education of the Alephs
